Prompting in Word and PowerPoint

WORKING WITH MICROSOFT COPILOT

Susanth Sutheesh
Copilot Solution Engineer, Microsoft

datacamp

Word and PowerPoint

DEMO VIDEO

DEMO VIDEO

DEMO VIDEO

DEMO VIDEO

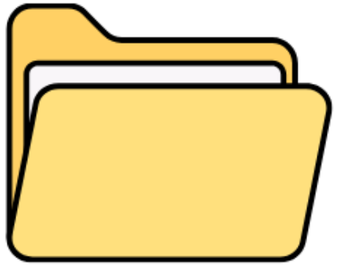
Key takeaways

Set a clear goal that plays to each app's strengths

Key takeaways

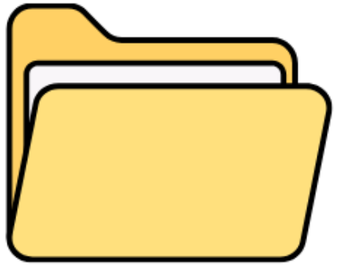
Reference specific files or sections as your source

Key takeaways



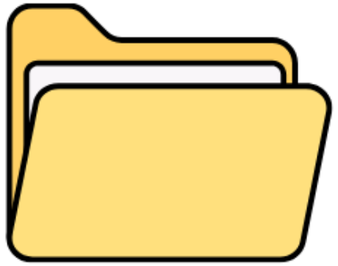
Refine outputs in small steps

Key takeaways



Save and reuse effective prompts

Key takeaways



Apply the GCSE framework for consistency

Let's practice!

WORKING WITH MICROSOFT COPILOT

Turning data into insights

WORKING WITH MICROSOFT COPILOT

Susanth Sutheesh
Copilot Solution Engineer, Microsoft

datacamp

Why Excel and Visual Reasoning?

- Copilot turns raw numbers into clear insights
- Creates charts, highlights trends, and runs calculations automatically
  - Without writing formulas

Why Excel and Visual Reasoning?

- Copilot turns raw numbers into clear insights
- Creates charts, highlights trends, and runs calculations automatically
  - Without writing formulas
- Easier to spot patterns and make confident decisions

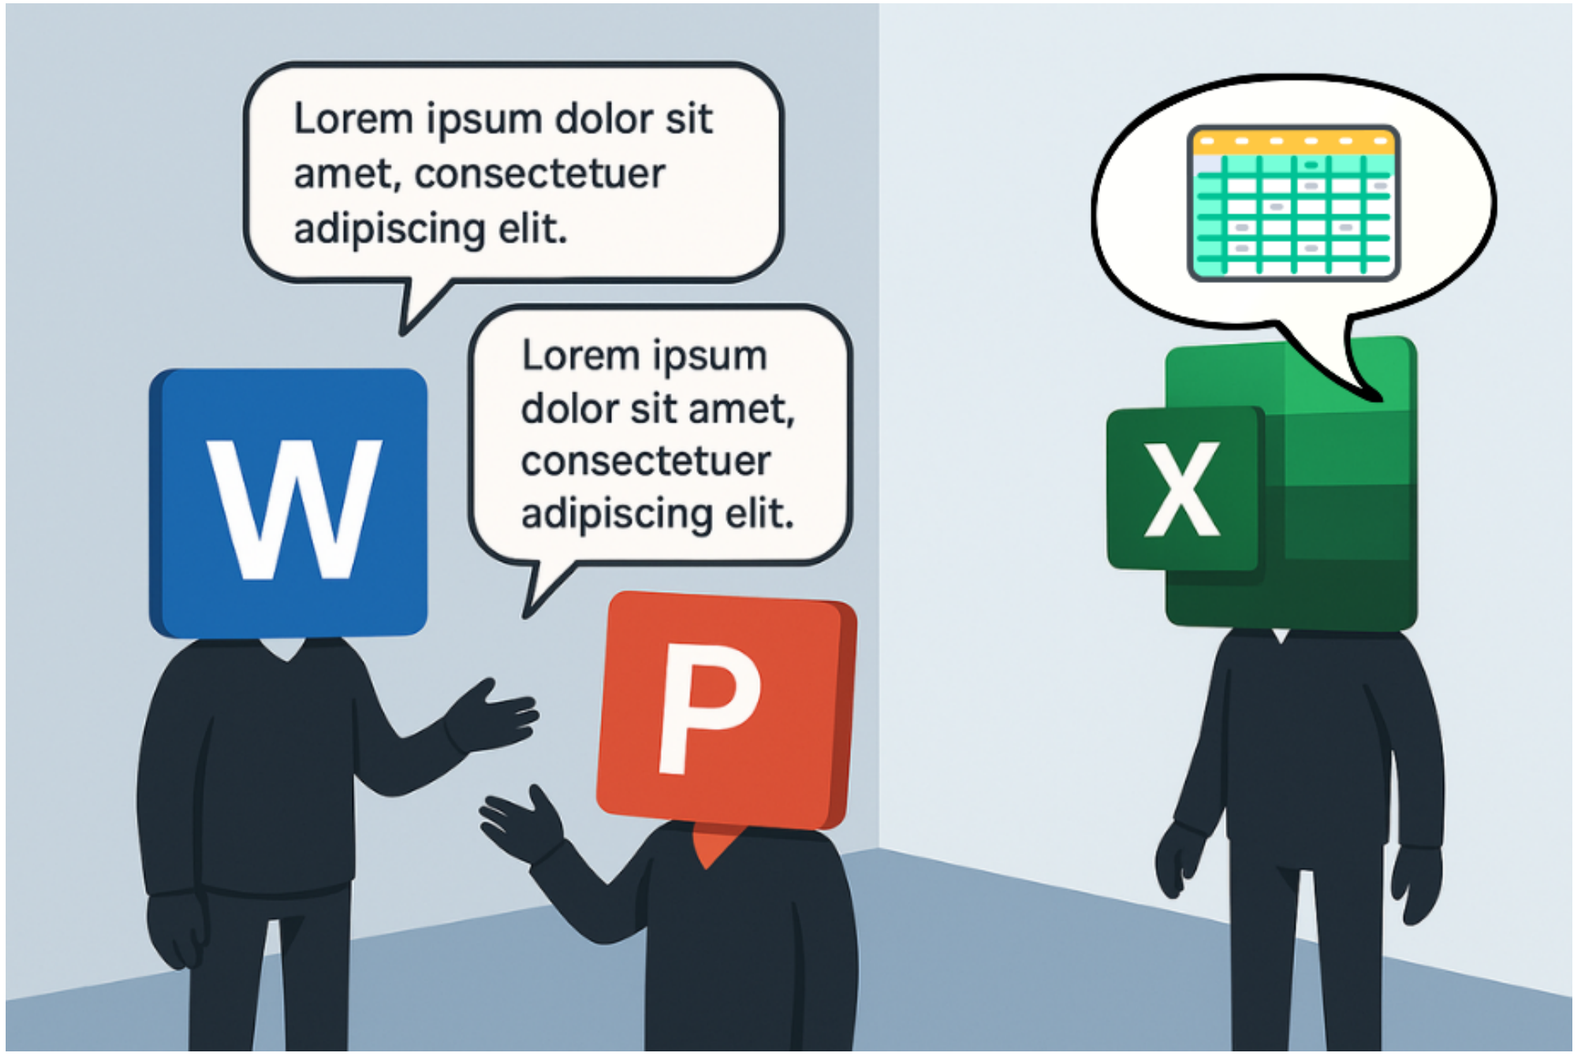
DEMO VIDEO

DEMO VIDEO

Visual reasoning beyond Excel

- In Word, Copilot turns text into tables
- In PowerPoint, you can create charts for slides from described data

Visual reasoning beyond Excel



Best practices in Excel with Copilot

- Always use precise column names when referring to data
- Clearly specify chart types and axis labels
- Refine step by step to highlight what matters most

Let's practice!

WORKING WITH MICROSOFT COPILOT